

Christmas Stories for Children

This is a collection of four original and animated children's stories produced for the Christmas season, each with a message that will delight young viewers and offer them a deep appreciation of the meaning of the holiday.

Christmas in America: A Great-Grandmother Remembers

Adapted from the book Christmas in America by Beverly Scott, this is a wonderful story of what celebrating Christmas was like back in the early part of the 20th century in America. In this nostalgic story, Beverly Scott reminisces about memorable trips to grandmother's and grandfather's house, when all family members joined together to make Christmas the most festive event of the year.

Pictures by Suzi Davis. Narrated by Jill Taylor.

Santa's New Suit

Children love to hear stories about Santa Claus, and this story written by author Beverly Scott is no exception. In the spirit of the famous Christmas poem, 'Twas The Night Before Christmas by Clement Clarke Moore, this poetic story will delight children as they discover the reason why this year Santa is wearing a new suit - or at least a newly-colored suit - for Christmas. Pictures by Judy Sutphen. Narrated by Chip Taylor. 10 min.

Santa and the Dinosaur

"Everyone knows Santa Claus uses reindeer to deliver his presents on Christmas Eve. What people don't know is, one year he almost had to use a dinosaur to lead his sleigh." So begins a wonderfully told story of Santa Claus, a loveable dinosaur, and a mysterious creature called Namwons, who are all part of a largely unknown legend about the disappearance of Santa's reindeer just before Christmas. Written and Illustrated by Dana Schnable. Graphics Animation by Marc Dole. Narrated by Chip Taylor.

Amalie's Christmas Picnic

Amalie is excited that Christmas is so close, and she's hoping her parents will take her out to eat and celebrate the holiday. Instead of going out to a restaurant however, her parents have a better idea: they decide to help Amalie go "out" on a Christmas picnic with her furry and feathery friends! The moral of this Christmas story is clear: don't forget to feed your pets and animal friends. Based on a short story by Karen Appleton. Illustrated by Dana Schnable. Narrated by Jill Taylor.
